Daily Procedure:

- Answer incoming phone calls from main line. Forward calls to applicable team member, or department. If you don't know the answer to a question, forward the call, or get equipped with the info needed, and call the customer back.
- Constantly monitor all voice mail boxes in the JustCall.io interface, return calls when necessary, or notify whoever the call is intended for, ensure that all voice mails, and calls are resolved in a timely manner.
- Answer every message in Intercom.io unless that message is specifically meant for another team member, notify the team member. If that team member is not available, or cannot respond within a timely manner (15 mins). Take a message for the team member, but never leave a customer waiting, or un-acknowledged. Also, if you come in to work and there are unanswered messages, make sure they are resolved immediately, by either making an apology and asking if we can still help, or forward it to the team member to whom it is addressed.
- If there is any down time, log into the dispatch system, and look for the following day's one-off rides, call the party, and either leave a message, or try to get a verbal confirmation for their transportation. This allows us to be more efficient, and thusly provide transportation for those who need it. In the Signal Channel called "JustGo Conf/Cancels" report all successful confirmations, cancellations, and each time a voicemail is left. If the party calls back, then report it to the channel.

If you've left a voicemail, and there hasn't been a return call to confirm by end of day, a list of who has not confirmed, needs to be reported to the signal channel.

- If there is down time, call dialysis centers to ensure that patients will be finished on time, if they are on time, you need not report it, but if they patient will be either early, or late, report it to the "JustGo Returns" channel.
